Obviously his treatment of it, and stations along the Pacific slope, these men. Obviously his treatment of it, and of another closely related to it, cannot even be sketched. Suffice it to say he spoke with unmistakable clearness, and a vigor and force that ought to have carried conviction with it, and he gave the young men advice that no one of them will fail to be benefited by if followed. The lecturer rather freely projects his personality into his discourse, drawing from a personal experience that certainly has been wide and varied. But in addressing youths on a subject, such as that treated last evening, it is probably the most effective method, though not excusable under ordinary circumstances. How We Come to Have Probably the Best Trunks in the Country.

Not long since a house in the East wrote us that they are the largest manufacturers of Trunks in the United States, that they could offer better advantages than other concerns, and that they wanted our trade. As an evidence of their capabilities they sent a sample line of some sixty Trunks, and we must admit that we have never seen their equal. No pains or expense seem to have been spared to make them as strong and substantial as possible. They are fitted with many improvements in locks, hinges, etc. All the nails are clinched through to the back-a point which adds much to durability. The corners and sides are protected by solid metal pieces and not hollow tin ornaments, as is often the case.

Style doesn't cut much of a figure in Trunks; nevertheless these are nearly all new shapes and quite different from the commonplace, everyday article. The covers are zinc, leather, canvas and wood, at prices varying from $3 50 to $22 50. The prices are not higher than for other and inferior makes, while in some instances they are considerably less.

Crane, a Massachusetts man, enjoys the reputation of making the finest writing papers in the country—that is, exclusive of linen or parchment. This comes from two reasons: First, his goods cannot be beat in tint and surfacing. Second, his styles are in good taste and can be relied upon as CORRECT.

Silver Coinage and Trade Dollars. PHILADELPHIA, April 19th.-The Times Washington special says: It was supposed at the Treasury Department that the effect of the recent action of the House of Representatives in refusing to authorize the free coinage of silver, or to suspend coinage, would be to steady the price of silver bars. It appears instead that the price has declined, and the latest purchases were at a less figure than has ever been reached. At the declining price of silver, coinage for the present will aggregate about $30,000,000.

In connection with the silver question in general much pre-sure is being brought to bear by parties still holding trade dollars. A Treasury official of high rank, talking about the trade dollar, remarked that it was a singular fact that the silver dollar at quire desperate remedies. It was also said that the cry of having a large number thrown bac upon the country from China is without erious danger, as it had been discovered after very careful investigation that the bullion dealers of New York, San Francisco and elsewhere, expecting to realize a handsome profit, had scoured the commercial ports of China from Tientsin to Can ton and had found that no American trade

The President and the Land Frauds. NEW YORK, April 19th .- The Herald Washington correspondent telegraphs There is a rumor that the President has been making one of those careful and laborious studies, to which he is given, of the public land question, and that he has become so thoroughly convinced of the vastness of the land frauds and of the measure of the present land laws for land-grabbing by syndicates and corporations and of the necessity of a thorough reform of both the land laws and the land admin istration, that he will presently send special message to Congress, urging its immediate action in the way of land reform and the repeal of bad laws, to help him ir saving the remaining public lands for

Garland Gives His Testimony. WASHINGTON, April 19th.-The announce ment that Attorney-General Garland was to appear before the Telephone Investigaion Committee caused a large attendance this morning. It was nearly three-quarters of an hour after the regular time of meeting when the Attorney-General appeared, looking pale and rather feeble. With a courteous salute to the committee, he immediately took the stand, and on invitation of the Chairman he began to make a statement of his connection with the Pan-Electric. He wished, he said, to lay before the committee and reaffirm the matter contained in his statement to the President in October last. He gave his testimony a great length, making a general denial of the charges made against him in connec

WASHINGTON, April 19th.-The House Committee on the Alcoholic Liquor Traffic to-day, by a vote of 6 to 5, ordered an adverse report of Representative Saulbee's bill to provide that no person shall be dicensed as a retail dealer of intoxicants by the United States until he has first received a license as such from the local authorities
